Subject RE: Dec. 4, 2008 letter re: Wampus Milford

I conducted an additional review of both 2002 and 2008 Reports in relation to the two RCRA units and had a conversation with Jim. Below is a recap:

1 We cannot consider any formal changes in the post-cl. Monitoring based on the 2002 GW (7 years from now!) sampling event. We agreed in our December 2008 letter that 2 years of post-remedial monitoring will include the wells used for P-Cl monitoring.

2 AOC-7, the former RCRA container storage, was investigated/remediated somewhat differently than the Guidance recommends. But the results of the 9-point 2001 soil sampling by ERM positively show no VOCs releases here. Some elevated concentrations of VOCs, revealed by the 10-point 1998 soil vapor sampling by HRP, are related to the plume(s) under the building. That problem will be addressed by an ELUR. The AOC-7 closure can be accepted as a RCRA Closure as soon as some GW data, specifically from well ERM-4, will be available.

Hi All,

David R. and I discussed the issues with two RCRA units - Surface impoundments and Container storage.

I should have an additional look and evaluate (hopefully during this week):

- 1 The possibility to discontinue the post-closure monitoring for SI.
- 2 Were the investigation/remediation completed for AOC "Former RCRA Storage"

The same as recommended for RCRA closures.

If evaluation will be positive, a public notice(s) will require, but not additional reports.

James may complete the schedule consider the above.

Gene -

Here's the response I received from Wampus. It would probably help if you could check in with Dave and Mark on where things stand regarding their getting Wampus the info on the status of the RCRA regulated units.

Thanks and hope all is well with you, Stephanie

I am still waiting for the information from the RCRA guys regarding the status of the two closed storage units relative to previous RCRA closure documentation, and whether additional work is needed for the units to be considered "clean closed". I can't respond to all of the items on the Letter until I understand the RCRA CA issue, since I can not afford to respond twice ($$$). I sent an e-mail to Mark Latham and David Ringquist week before last, but have not heard back from either. I am aware that we are now beyond the response deadline stated in the Letter. The financial assurance issue is obviously a significant one, and Ed needs to understand what the target is before we commit to expending any of the very limited resources available.

Good morning Jim,

Would it be possible for you to let Gene and I know the status of the responses to EPA and CT DEP's Dec. 4, 2008 letter regarding 80 Wampus Lane, Milford, CT and a timeframe by which Wampus Milford Associates will provide the responses to EPA and CT DEP?

Thank you,

Stephanie,
